Wear Low Shoes for Comfort

The man or woman who doesn't wear low shoes misses the luxury of having perfect foot comfort. Ours are certainly comfortable. They are built of the best material the leather market affords and the shapes are right.

We have many different styles in patent leather, vicci kid, velours, box calf, etc., also tan and white canvass for men, women and children.

John Dean, of Anderson, S. C., and Roy Emerson, of Tacoma, were drowned in Lake Levy, near Micanopy, Saturday afternoon while out fishing. Both bodies were recovered a hundred feet from shore.

Yesterday afternoon quite a crowd collected in front of The Grand Atlantic to witness the outdoor sports. Pie eating contests, sack races, etc., proved very amusing.

Adolph G. Bochard and wife, Lawrence, Mass.; A. S. Byers, wife and child, Providence, R. I.; J. Cooper Price and wife, Toledo, O.; Mrs. M. R. Lewis, Utica, N. Y.; Mrs. C. E. Williams, Rome, Ga., are guests of Schmidt's Villa.

Florida hotels seem to be under a fire ban. Only a few days ago the Commercial Hotel at Palm Beach was burned and yesterday morning fire destroyed the beautiful Hotel Bon Air at Live Oak, entailing a loss of over $15,000.

The cigar industry at Tampa has grown to enormous proportions. Last week's pay roll for the various factories at that place was one hundred and twenty thousand dollars. Is it any wonder that Tampa is growing?

John Y. Detwiler, the genial and whole souled president of the Florida State Fish Commission was up from New Smyrna, today, and held down a chair in the Daily News office for a short time.

The launches Goinsum and Grant Ferris, Jr., indulged in a race yesterday which was not decisive. Another race is scheduled to take place shortly.

THE DEATH DICE.

A Strange Story That Comes From the Seventeenth Century.

A notable exhibit in the Berlin Hermitage museum consists of the famous "death dice." About the middle of the seventeenth century a beautiful young girl was murdered, and suspicion fell on two soldiers, Ralph and Alfred, who were rival suitors for her hand. As both prisoners denied their guilt and even torture failed to extract a confession from either Prince Frederick William, the Kaiser's ancestor, decided to cut the Gordian knot with the dice box. The two soldiers should throw for their lives, the loser to be executed as the murderer. The event was celebrated with great pomp and solemnity, and the prince himself assisted at this appeal to divine intervention, as it was considered by everybody, including the accused themselves.

Ralph was given the first throw, and he drew sixes, the highest possible number, and no doubt felt jubilant. The dice box was then given to Alfred, who fell on his knees and prayed aloud: "Almighty God, thou knowest I am innocent. Protect me, I beseech thee!" Rising to his feet, he threw the dice with such force that one of them broke in two. The unbroken one showed six, the broken one also showed six on the larger portion, and the bit that had been split off showed one, giving a total of thirteen, or one more than the throw of Ralph. The whole audience thrilled with astonishment, while the prince exclaimed, "God has spoken!" Ralph, regarding the miracle as a sign from heaven, confessed his guilt and was sentenced to death. It is probable that Alfred ever after did not number himself among those who look upon thirteen as an unlucky number.—London Tatler.

A FATEFUL DREAM.

Death Came Precisely as It Had Been Foretold in a Dream.

A strange family story is told in the "Reminiscences of Mrs. Pickering." It has to do with her sister Jane, married to Lord Andover, eldest son of the Earl of Suffolk: "She (Lady Andover) had always been noted for having the most remarkable dreams, and one morning she awoke feeling nervous and uncomfortable, having dreamed that Lord Andover had gone out shooting when there was a battle and had been shot. This made such an impression on her mind that she entreated him not to shoot that day, but to stay with her, which he at once consented to do, and they resumed their painting and reading. But the day came out so fine and the winter sun shone so brightly that my aunt, feeling she had been selfish, at last begged him not to lose the day for her sake, but to go out and join the others, so he went. After he had gone she became so restless and uneasy that she started to walk across the park to the covert where they were shooting. As she crossed the park she observed one of the groom's galloping hard toward the house on her own favorite horse, Baronet. Strange to say, no presentiment of evil seems at that moment to have struck her, and she only remarked, 'How very angry Lord Andover would be if he could see that man riding my horse in such a way!' He was riding to the house with the news that Lord Andover had been shot dead by one of the keepers."

The Fountain of Youth.
Mr. Jones—My daughter is only eighteen. You had better wait until she is older. The Lover—Well, I've waited two years for her to get older, but she still stays at eighteen.—Judge.
